Disclaimer: The following statement provides general information regarding the frequency at which you may request to reprice your loan with your bank. However, please note that any repricing requests are subject to approval by the bank, and this disclaimer does not guarantee approval or imply any specific outcome. The bank retains the right to assess each repricing request on an individual basis, considering various factors, including but not limited to the borrower's creditworthiness, financial standing, and loan terms. It is advisable to contact your bank directly for accurate and up-to-date information regarding repricing options and the bank's approval criteria.
